

General Terms and Conditions of Purchase

1. Applicability

2.2 The Supplier is bound after written acceptance of the Customer's order, on the understanding that the Supplier's failure to refuse the order within 3 working days of receipt of the order, the invoice issued by the Supplier, the signing of the Stumabo International order form or the delivery of the products and/or services, shall always be deemed to constitute acceptance.

3. Prices

5.1 Without prejudice to any confidentiality agreement between the parties, which shall take precedence over these general terms and conditions, the parties shall treat as confidential all information and documents – including, but not limited to, instructions for production, installation, commissioning and use, plans, designs, drawings and calculations – of which they become aware in the context of their business relationship and the execution of the order. This applies to all information and documents that are marked as confidential, as well as those that should be considered confidential due to the circumstances of their disclosure. The use of such confidential information is limited to what is necessary for the execution of the order. The receiving party may not store the confidential information for any other purpose, pass it on to third parties or use it in any other way.

In addition, the Supplier shall be liable by operation of law to pay the Customer fixed compensation of 1% of the total price per day of delay, up to a maximum of 12%, unless the Customer can prove that the damage was greater.

7.1 Signing a delivery note only confirms receipt.

7.2 The Supplier guarantees that the products and/or services: (i) comply with the order and all applicable laws and regulations (including EU rules); (ii) are free from defects and suitable for the expressly stated or reasonably expected purpose; (iii) do not infringe any third-party rights, including intellectual property rights; (iv) are performed in accordance with best practice; and (v) do not damage the Customer's image or reputation.

7.5 The Supplier shall take out adequate insurance against all possible claims arising from the delivery of products and/or services.

7.6 The Supplier shall proceed within five (5) working days of notification of the defect with the remedy chosen by the Customer (repair, replacement or any other appropriate measure at the Customer's discretion).

8. Payment

8.1 If the Supplier has fulfilled its obligations under the purchase agreement and has issued a valid invoice, the Customer shall pay the invoice within 60 (sixty) days of receipt of the invoice, unless other payment terms are specified in the order. Unless otherwise agreed in writing, invoicing shall not take place before the delivery of the products and/or services has been completed.

8.2 The Customer may refuse payment of any invoice that does not comply with applicable legislation, without prejudice to any other grounds on which the Customer may refuse payment of such invoice.

9.2 The Supplier may only cancel the order in the event of a material failure on the part of the Customer that is not rectified within 14 days of a registered notice of default. Cancellation of the order by the Supplier does not suspend ongoing deliveries of other orders.

9.3 In the event of cancellation, the Supplier must refund all advance payments for undelivered or refused products or services not performed.

10. Force majeure

10.1 All cases of force majeure traditionally recognised as such by Belgian case law, including but not limited to natural disasters or other disasters such as epidemics and pandemics, nuclear accidents, fires, floods, earthquakes, wars, riots, sabotage or revolutions, which completely prevent a party from fulfilling its contractual obligations, entitle the other party to suspend its contractual obligations for as long as the force majeure continues, or entitle either party to terminate the order if the force majeure continues for more than 30 days.

11. Intellectual property rights

11.1 Each party retains the copyright and all intellectual property rights to its own documents, data, technical descriptions, plans, drawings, models, samples, photographs or other materials, regardless of whether these rights existed prior to the agreement or arose within the framework of the agreement and regardless of whether costs were charged for them.

11.2 If the order involves the development or modification of a product, service, software, web r documentation or any other work based in whole or in part on instructions, specifications or data provided by the Customer, all intellectual property rights arising from or related to this shall belong exclusively to the Customer. The Supplier hereby waives any right to claim or register such intellectual property and undertakes to perform all necessary documents and acts to confirm the transfer or confirmation of these rights to the Customer.

12. Miscellaneous provisions

12.1 The invalidity of any provision shall not affect the validity of the other provisions. The provision in question shall be replaced by a valid provision that comes as close as possible to the intended result.

12.2 The Supplier may only use subcontractors for the execution of the order with the prior written consent of the Customer. In any case, the Supplier remains fully liable for the performance of its subcontractors.
